

Awaken the Parent within

A simple guide to parenting in a complex world.

Deep inside every one of us is a natural biological understanding of how to be a loving, connected and extremely resourceful parent. And yet for so many people today parenting has become a struggle, a worry and a confusing set of 'how to' steps.

"Awaken the parent within" is an interactive journey into the simple ways we can quickly and easily turn a parenting struggle into the most satisfying and rewarding experience possible. Through the art of photography and story telling you will be invited to transform yourself from a parent with a mountain of problems in to a parent with a valley of solutions. From toddler tantrums to sibling rivalry, the dangers of a digital world and children lost to peer attachments. The solutions are close at hand

About the speaker:

Darrell Brown has been a freelance Photographer/Cinematographer for over 30 years. During this time he has combined his passion of photography with his desire to be the best father imaginable.

Darrell spent nearly 20 years reading every parenting book available, attending workshops across the country and around the world. He trained as an NLP (Neuro- Linguistic Programming) Practitioner and then Master Practitioner. More recently he designed and ran his own parenting workshops for a chain of early childhood centres here in Perth. Darrell continued his study in the area of personal development by attending trainings in London, Leeds and Sydney. However most importantly Darrell put all this study into becoming the best father he could possibly be. His experience as a father is the greatest gift he ever received and it is this gift that he now shares with the world. Darrell's presentations are powerfully interactive , transformational and not too be missed.
